

“This is the image that was used for the cover of Time Magazine in March 1983, The title is the “Great Australian Dry”. This was during the big drought in Australia. This picture has special significance especially these days when we have all sorts of problems with climate change, floods, droughts etc. The image was also my breaking point in photography, a timeless image with a strong message.
— GUNTHER DEICHMANN

